

our children

Name:

Salma Loya

Age:

Six

Salma is six years old and is of native Tarahumara decent. Salma is a very sweet little girl and gets along famously with all the children. She has a very loving and caring disposition and a precious smile that goes well with her personality. Salma's favorite color is black and pizza is her favorite food. Salma loves to join in with the other children and play with the trucks and tractors in Casa's large sand box. Salma wants to be a teacher when she grows up and enjoys having stories read to her. Salma was left at Casa by her mother who is very poor and struggles to make a living by cleaning houses. The where-a-bouts of the father is unknown having abandoned the family soon after the mother became pregnant.